

Laurent Nicastro appointed ID Logistics' Executive Vice-President Operations

Cavaillon, 22 March 2017 – ID Logistics today announced the appointment of Laurent Nicastro as Executive Vice-President Operations and a member of the Executive Committee. He will report to Christophe Satin, the Group's Chief Operating Officer. This appointment is effective 1 February 2017.

Laurent Nicastro, 45, began his career in 1997 with Hays Logistics (now Kuehne & Nagel) as Manager of a logistics facility serving Honda and Christian Dior. He then moved on to become Head of projects for the Consumer & Industry division in 2000, Facility Manager for the Carrefour account in 2003, and then Chief Executive Officer of the Belgian subsidiary Logistics Nivelles serving the same account in 2006.

In 2007, Laurent Nicastro joined the Castorama group as Head of logistics in France. Over the ten years he spent at Castorama, he served as Head of the Supply Chain from 2012 and then Head of the Supply Chain, IT and Organization from 2014. Laurent joined the retail chain's Executive Committee in 2012.

Laurent is a graduate of Panthéon Sorbonne University in Paris and holds a DESS postgraduate diploma in logistics management and transport engineering from Lille University of Science and Technology.

In his new role with ID Logistics, Laurent has responsibility for the Group's operational excellence, client satisfaction and facility profitability.

Laurent will take over the role performed by Vincent Fontaine, who has been appointed Chief Executive Officer of the Benelux subsidiaries.
