ID LOGISTICS ENTERS THE GLOBAL TOP 10 IN THE ARMSTRONG & ASSOCIATES RANKING

Following a year marked by further acceleration in its development, ID Logistics has now reached 10th place worldwide in the 2025 “Top 25 Global Warehousing 3PL” ranking published by Armstrong & Associates, a leading research and consulting firm specializing in the global contract logistics market.

The ranking is based on total global warehousing space operated in 2024 on behalf of third-party customers. ID Logistics is positioned with 96.0 million square feet operated, representing more than 9 million square meters.

This distinction comes as part of a sustained growth trajectory. In 2025, ID Logistics generated revenue of €3.7 billion, doubling its business over five years. The year was marked by the award or start-up of 27 new contracts, as well as the opening of operations in Canada, which became the Group's 19th country of operation.

With more than 450 sites and 10 million square meters operated across Europe, the Americas, Asia and Africa, ID Logistics confirms its change in scale and strengthens its position as a global player in contract logistics, serving major international clients in retail, e-commerce, FMCG, cosmetics and fashion.

Alongside its geographic expansion, the Group continues the technological transformation of its operations. Artificial intelligence has now become a key driver of value creation within warehouses, enabling predictive flow optimization, real-time orchestration of teams and robots, and continuous improvement in service quality and environmental performance.

Entry into the global Top 10 further underscores the strength of a business model built on organic growth, operational excellence and innovation, in a rapidly evolving industry.
