

ID Logistics receives 2015 Digital HR trophy for the "Talents 2020" project

Cavaillon, 21 May 2015 – ID Logistics Group's Human Resources Division was awarded the "Talents and Growth" 2015 Digital HR Team Trophy at the prize-giving ceremony held at Google France's headquarters on 20 May 2015. Organised by the RH&M Group on the initiative of Observatoire Global Talent (OGT), this ceremony aims to recognise the five best HR digitalisation projects.

This trophy recognises the "Talents 2020" project, which was launched in 2011 and represents an essential component in the Group's structures for managing and developing the careers of its employees.

The tools contained within Talents 2020, including evaluation, training and career management solutions, are tailored to each manager and aim to support them in each stage of their career with ID Logistics.

This Trophy highlights the close partnership between the Human Resources and Operations Divisions. Created around an exhaustive business line handbook and drawing on a unified IT solution, "Talents 2020" can evolve to reflect the Group's growth: implementation of innovative new modules, extension of the scope of use, integration of new HR topics or regulatory and legal developments.

The 2015 "Talents and Growth" Digital HR Team Trophy was awarded to Sébastien Guiragossian, Group HR Director, Caroline Daudin, Head of Talent Management, and Laurent Chabaud, Head of HR IT Systems by Vincent Belliveau, SVP and General Manager EMEA at Cornerstone Ondemand.

Eric Hémar, Chairman and CEO of ID Logistics, commented: "I am really honoured to receive this prestigious award, which recognises the effectiveness of the work of our Human Resources and Operations Divisions. "Talents 2020" is a particularly effective tool in allocating appropriate resources irrespective of our clients' business sector; it also allows us to anticipate our future requirements. This award demonstrates, if any further demonstration was needed, the role played by the management of talent in our business and the strength of the values that have always underpinned our growth."
